STONE PEDESTAL IS TO BE GIVEN TO THE COLLEGE BY THE FLAT HAT

Will Be Erected in the Court of the Wren Building About the First of June

Some time ago an order was placed with the Couper Marble Works, of Norfolk, for a stone pedestal which will be presented to the College by THE FLAT HAT at some time before or during Finals. This pedestal will support the ancient and historic bronze sun-dial now resting on a wooden pillar which stands on the front Campus. It is forty-four inches in height with a base three feet by three feet, and it will be given in commemoration of the Flat Hat Club, founded here in 1750, and of the birth of THE FLAT HAT which occurred on October the third, 1911.

MARKED BY BRONZE PLATE

This gift, which it is hoped will be one of many similar gifts to the College in future years, by the various classes and organizations, will bear a bronze plate containing the dates given above, and the Staff for the year 1911-12.

Mr. John D. Couper, the well-known designer of Norfolk, is constructing the work after plans submitted by Mr. Wm. Kavanaugh Doty. It will be a Tuscan column on a 3 foot base and with an octagonal capital.

Other gifts to the College during the year have been:

Some valuable letters and newspapers; eight hundred volumes added to the Library by gift, purchase and endowment; forty thousand dollars from the State of Virginia; Seventeen thousand dollars from the State to release the debt on the heating plant, etc., etc.

WILLIAM AND MARY ACADEMY STARS SHINE

William and Mary Academy gained its initial victory of the season on Wednesday and "put one over" on the Richmond Academy nine to the tune of eleven hits, three runs and fourteen strike-outs, the fast Richmond bunch making only six safe connections with the sphere, punching but four men and scoring but two of the much desired tallies.

Ed. Addison, alias "Bushkey," on the mound for the locals was the big show. For three innings, the third, fourth and seventh but three men walked to the plate but first base was too long a journey and they

THE FLAT HAT STAFF FOR 1912-13 ELECTED. ONLY TWO NEW MEMBERS

Mr. Alan Fred English, of Pennsylvania, Editor-in-Chief. Mr. Vaden again Business Manager

At a recent meeting of THE FLAT HAT Staff the board for 1912-13 was chosen. This was, of course, subject to ratification by the Student body, which took place in the Chapel on last Wednesday morning. According to the policy adopted, those of the previous board who will return next year were reelected to their respective positions. The vacancies were filled from the ranks of the subscribers.

ENGLISH EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Mr. Alan Fred English, of Pennsylvania, who has been in college for three years, and who has always taken a prominent and active part in student activities was elected Editor-in-Chief. He was promoted from the position of Associate Editor where his services were of the worthiest sort. The returning Associate Editors, reelected are Messrs. Wm. Elliott Dold, of New York; Wm. Mortimer Harrison, of Virginia; and Jas. David Clements, of Virginia. Mr. Arthur Wilson James, of Virginia, Assistant Business Manager for the past year was chosen as one of the Associate Editors, and Mr. Raymond Glen Meredith, of Virginia, was elected to fill the vacancy made by Mr. Robt. Bruce Jackson.

MR. VADEN REELECTED

Mr. Herbert Wentworth Vaden, of Virginia, the able and untiring Business Manager for 1911-12 was unanimously reelected to that important position, which he has held with so much distinction. It is believed that the financial prosperity of the present year will of necessity follow THE FLAT HAT's second mile. As his Assistant Mr. Max Blitzer, of New York, will act.

General approval has accompanied the choice of the new board, and the HAT is expected to make leaps and bounds under its direction.

COLONIAL ECHO EXPECTED NEXT WEEK

Mr. Alan F. English, Editor of The Colonial Echo, has reported that he expects that publication next week. No one thing of the year has been more eagerly awaited. From all reports this will be the most attractive issue ever gotten out by the Senior Class.

RICHMOND AND RANDOLPH-MACON FAIL TO BREAK THE UNIQUE RECORD

College Ends the Most Remarkable Baseball Season in its History Monday

William and Mary drank the cup of bitterness to the dregs on Saturday in the shape of 6-5 defeat at the hands of Richmond College. Meredith proved himself to have the goods, letting the Orange and Black down with four hits.

In the opening session Garth fouled out and Peachy hit safely, pilfered second and was safe at third on Lewis' muff, scoring a moment later on Taylor's bad throw from left. Errors netted the Spiders two in the same inning.

Garth doubled in the third and was scored by Dix on a sacrifice, while three more counted in the next inning on errors and Addison's single. The Spiders however counted one too many in the same period on four successive singles.

YELLOW JACKETS, MONDAY

On Monday, the Yellow Jackets copped the last game of the season. The visitors scored first in the third inning, when Marston, the Yellow Jackets' twirler, doubled to right, and passed third for a run when Games dropped Wilson's throw.

Marston again hit safely in the seventh inning, and was sacrificed home by Anderson and Midyette. The locals were held scoreless until the seventh when a series of errors and Dix's single counted two, tying the score. The visitors, however, counted two more on an error, a single and a sacrifice fly in the eighth, and the Orange and Black was unable to again even up matters.

COACH YOUNG DESERVES CREDIT

Every credit is due Coach Young for his earnest, unrelenting labor expended upon the team in the face of the most discouraging obstacles, and the boys, tho' losing game after game, kept up their "pep" in a way that is worthy of admiration. The continued support of the Student body and local fans under adverse circumstances has also been a matter of great pride and gratification to the management.

The Academy baseball team will cross bats this afternoon with the Hampton High School on the grounds of the latter in Hampton.

FRATERNITY BASEBALL LEAGUE IS FORMED. THE FIRST GAME TODAY

The Five Fraternities will Contest for Pennant and Inter-Fraternity Championship

There has recently been formed at the College an inter-fraternity baseball league. The title to the championship will be played on the dates and in the order given below:

PROGRAMME OF SERIES

Theta Delta Chi vs. Kappa Sigma Tuesday, May 21.

Kappa Alpha vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon Wednesday, May 22.

Pi Kappa Alpha vs. Theta Delta Chi Thursday, May 23.

Kappa Sigma vs. Kappa Alpha Friday, May 24.

Pi Kappa Alpha vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon Saturday, May 25.

Theta Delta Chi vs. Kappa Alpha Monday, May 27.

Kappa Sigma vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon Saturday, June 1.

Pi Kappa Alpha vs. Kappa Alpha Saturday, June 8.

Sigma Phi Epsilon vs. Theta Delta Chi Monday June 10.

Pi Kappa Alpha vs. Kappa Sigma Tuesday, June 11.

Only seven innings will be played. If there is a tie for the championship it will be played off. Five cents admission will be charged. Mr. Hethorn and Dr. Young will umpire the series.

STUART HALL ESSAY ON COLLEGE

THE FLAT HAT is in receipt of an essay of about six thousand words on the College of William and Mary from Miss Mary Sommerville Gammon of the Department of English Stuart Hall, Staunton, Virginia. The sketch was prepared by one of Miss Gammon's pupils and is an extensive and appreciative study of the old College from the early days of 1693 down to the present day. Especially does the author emphasize the influence of the College on education in America, and her production is excellent in every way. With these words of praise the essay closes: "The old College of William and Mary still proudly lifts her head in the Virginia Commonwealth, and with the passing years, cherished by that State, she casts, like some radiant star, brighter with the age of centuries, a glorious light, illumined by traditions of fame and honor, to guide and bless the coming manhood of Virginia."

IN WHICH WE FOLLOW AFTER THE PAST

I

'His day was done, and the sands had run
Through the measuring glass so long,
That now there was left to his setting sun,
But a pipe, and a bowl, and a song.'

The end of each thing in this world is so near the beginning thereof that life would seem not to be worth the candle. That is why it is a smile—with a sob in it. Tomorrow is just over the threshold, and then—nothing remains but the leave taking, for 'it never can happen again.' Whether the day has been one of shine or shadow, the feeling is ever the same; the very fact of departure inevitably blots out the sterner side of things, and lends to them, indeed, a romantic colouring that is only possible to the Past. Now that the time has come for us to speak a halting epilogue, before the falling of the curtain, we feel the clutching fingers of regret; and even a slight tingle of jealousy comes with our parting with THE HAT. But we shall hand it over to another, without too much ado, to be worn by him with more grace, as it may be, but not, we believe, with greater affection than we.

It is not however with a maudlin show that we leave the stage; nor yet is there to be heard such laughter as one would expect from Sir Toby. Instead we are walking off with something of the air of one in pursuit of that rare, much desirable, but ever-fleeing thing called dignity. A very difficult role, to be sure, but amateurs, you know, love heavy parts, even as Youth loves tears.

In days to come, in that far time when THE FLAT HAT shall have reached Volume XXX, and much earlier perhaps, it will be a habit with us to look back at the scraggly genesis of what will then be an old and dignified paper; more than once we shall remember it, and always we shall be thinking—

'Tis sometimes pleasant to recall,
The friends of yesterday, tomorrow,
But that's a pleasure—if at all—
That borders very close on sorrow.'

II

However well it has been realized, it has been the policy of THE FLAT HAT to act sincerely in its every relation. Many mistakes have been made, but these were with the best of intentions. The beloved old College has been our one inspiration. For her, and her alone, THE HAT has remained in the ring, and it has striven to have some opinion on subjects pertaining to her welfare just in the way that a student publication should. Whether good or bad, a paper should have a definite trend; without that it is worse than 'a ship without a sail.'

Our hope has been to contribute toward the preservation of that incomparable and well-nigh blinding glory that clings to the immortal name of William and Mary as the old, aristocratic, and classical college of the South; therefore we have opposed in every possible way the blighting effects of normal school, and kindergarten isms. We have spoken against paternalism; also have we pointed out the need of perspective in a few corners of this universe. A word has been said on parasitism; another on student loyalty; another on liberality; and still another on the priorities of the College which every friend of the Institution should defend to the utmost. More than often, unjust criticism and severe reproach have resulted; we have had as a consolation our belief that a prejudiced or erratic man, so-called, is nothing worse than one who happens or dares to have an opinion of his own. So nothing serious has resulted from that score except that we have been deprived of what had been to us the pleasure of admiration and regard.

III

To the Staff of THE HAT we are especially indebted and to them we would first express our unbounded thanks; especially to Messrs. Herbert W. Vaden, and Alan English. The former as Business Manager has manifested not alone a marked capacity in this office beyond any one that we have as yet seen, but at the same time his attitude has at all times been liberal, courteous, and alert to the best interests of this publication. Mr. English as one of the Associate Editors has been indefatigable and unfailing in his assistance toward the preparation of copy. We would have Mr. George Preston Coleman feel sensible of our gratitude to him for the gift of our very interesting name; and at The Gazette office we want to thank Messrs. Johnston, Ferguson and Hooper for their willingness to do their best for us. Also we would thank those advertisers who have generously made THE FLAT HAT possible, and extend to them our hope for some reward at least. Last, if not least, to our critics, both kindly and adverse, we feel that we owe some expression of regard, and, in doing so, it is with the hope that we may some day be able to return the compliment.

Whether we have carried out our programme as outlined at the begining of the year will best be decided by each one for himself. At any rate it is done and cannot be undone, so there's an end on't. The thirty issues are completed with this, and THE HAT will go now to the mothballs until the third of next October, to await a glorious resurrection. With much the same feeling, notwithstanding the less reason therefor we may say, as Mr. Robert Louis Stevenson once said:

'I wonder exceedingly if I have done anything at all good; and who can tell me? And why should I wish to know? In so little a while, I and the English language will have ceased to be a memory! And yet—and yet, one would like to leave an image for a few years upon men's minds—for fun.'

went the way they came. During three other innings there were but four men at the plate. Addison assumed his old-time grin, grasped the horse-hide and the hits didn't appear.

The batting of Newton was also a feature of the locals' work, he making two singles and a double, reaching first the next time on errors caused by a hot grounder to second, which oozed through three Richmonders. To his timely singles and two-sacker the Academy owes two of its runs, while, Ellis and Zehmer connected for two safeties apiece. Harrison for the visitors proved a good twirler but crumbled under the demon swatting of the locals.

All round the playing was good and fast with the exception of the local third-sacker who seemed to have an off day but nevertheless registered a safety and reached second in the fourth. Altogether the local Academy is "going good" and a succession of scalps at the belts of "Doc" Marrow's young hopefuls is more than a probability.
